Description

This 2013 Toyota GT86 Boxer D-4S is a capable sports coupe powered by a 2.0 litre petrol engine. As a well-regarded model in the Toyota lineup, this vehicle combines a focused driving experience with practical design elements. The exterior is finished with high intensity discharge xenon headlights, which are complemented by a dusk sensor that automatically activates the lights when conditions require. Inside the cabin, the vehicle features a black and red leather interior that provides a distinct aesthetic. Convenience is prioritised through the inclusion of a keyless entry system, which allows for seamless access and operation via a push button start. Connectivity is also straightforward, as the car comes equipped with Bluetooth technology, ensuring that drivers can easily integrate their devices while on the move. These features collectively enhance the daily usability of the GT86, offering a blend of comfort and modern functionality that distinguishes it from
